CONFIRMATION IS GIVEN REPORTS THAT LOST FRENCHMEN ARE ALIVE

SIGNAL FLARES, EYE WITNESSES LEND NEW HOPE

Quebec Indians Testify To Having Seen "White Bird"

(By Universal Service)
QUEBEC, June 16.—Spurred on by a new signal flare sighted in northern Quebec and persistent reports that at the rear of an airplane was heard in that locality the evening of May 9, forest rangers and airplanes continued their search for Nungesser and Coll today.

Reports in the last 24 hours indicate that the "White Bird" spanned the Atlantic before it vanished into the unknown.

Lost in the wilds of northern Quebec are believed to hold the secret of the flight of the two daring French aces. The thin ray of hope—the signal flares—may mean that they will be found alive and though developments today discredit the theory that the flares were set off by the missing flyers the coming of the mountains and thickly wooded section went forward with renewed vigor.

LIGHTS AGAIN SEEN

Richmond Does Care! Family In Need Given Food, Clothes

Quick Response Made To Plea For Assistance; More Help Needed

Richmond has a big heart! And answering the plea made yesterday in the RECORD-HERALD to assist a needy local family Richmond opened its heart and gave freely.

So much so that Mrs. Juliet Douglas, feels encouraged to take up again the brave fight she is making for herself and the three children.

Nine year old Stephen has some new corduroy trousers—it did one's heart good to see him hitch them proudly about his waist and square his little shoulders. They won't make fun of him at school any longer for his torn and overalls and ragged shirt.

Eunice, aged 5, shows herself the eternal feminine. She preens herself in front of a broken mirror, twirling her blonde tresses down in a novel arrangement to show off to good advantage a new dress. It is new to her, and she is quite proud of it, as though it had just come from the shop.

The baby—Charles, aged 3—has not yet arrived at the age when he is capable of discriminating between old things and new, but he certainly knows when he is cold, and Charles's toes have been numb several times lately. But no more, good shoes house Charles's feet now.

There is a noticeable difference (Continued on Page 8.)

Robbed!

WHILE Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Livers were being called to identify Arthur Barry, who confessed to robbing them of $100,000 of jewelry two more big hauls were made in New York by jewel thieves believed to be led by Boston Billy Williams.

MERGER OF OIL FIRMS HINTED

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Former rumors of possible purchase of North American Oil Consolidated by Union Oil Company of California were hotly revived yesterday, when, without warning, the stock of the former company jumped two points on the local board and was ostentatiously bought at that figure in large volume.

With President T. J. Kierulff out of the city, no confirmation could be obtained, but along California and Montgomery streets it was pointed out that the recent contract made by the Shell company with Honolulu Consolidated for a supply of crude from the Kern and Midway fields may have suggested to Union Oil company of California the advisability of "cinching" the continued supply which it now gets under contract, from North American Consolidated.

BERGDOLL ASKS LEVINE TO AID IN U. S. HOP

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, June 16.—Stirred by trans-Atlantic flights and believing that such a flight by himself would be the only means of rehabilitating himself in the eyes of the American public Grover Cleveland Bergdoll emerged from obscurity tonight with an offer to Charles A. Levine, to buy his plane at any price.

Bergdoll made another offer to Chamberlin offering to pay him any amount of money asked if Chamberlin would fly back to New York or Philadelphia with Bergdoll as a passenger.

The offer was made in a letter received by Levine aboard the Bremen tonight.

"Name your own price," appeared several times in the letter which is more a plea for help than a desire to return to America.

The letter was written from the small town of Wurttemberg, where Bergdoll is keeping in seclusion.

LINDY HAPPY OVER REPORT ACES FOUND

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, June 15.—Charlie Lindbergh turned his lips in an enthusiastic and bright smile of joy today when informed of the reported finding of Capt. Nungesser and Coll, the French flyers who were lost in the attempt to do what he succeeded in doing.

"Gosh, that's great," he cried out, jumping to his feet. "I have always contended that some time, from somewhere, some word would be received about Nungesser and Coll."

"Most aeronautic authorities have believed that they reached this side of the water. That was the reason the relief expedition had the backing it did. The French have always believed that Nungesser has nine lives, and that he couldn't have reached the end of his rope."

"I certainly hope that this report is confirmed and I fervently hope that both of them are found alive. If they are, our prayers and those of the French nation will have been answered."

Monkey Descent Not So, Says Lecturer

Arguments against the theory that man originated from the monkey, were presented last night by Dr. Arthur I. Brown, in his lecture at the First Christian church. Dr. Brown, a surgeon and lecturer, gave reasons for his belief in the Biblical story of the beginning of man, saying that science has so far not proved its theories on this subject.

The lecturer explained the wonder of the action of the heart, and the circulation of the blood. He also treated the way in which the organs of the body function. Dr. Brown is a Fellow of the Royal College of Edinburgh, and last night's lecture completed a series of two talks on health that he has given under the auspices of the Richmond churches.

REDAID DIX AND MARY BRIAN in a scene from "KNOCKOUT REILLY", which opens a two day engagement this afternoon at the California theatre.

"Knockout Reilly," Richard Dix' newest Paramount starring effort, directed by Malcolm St. Clair, arrives at the California theatre today, for a two day engagement. Dix has an especially strong supporting part in this picture, the story of a young man who finds his life in a ring, and who falls in love, Mary Brian has lately featured in "The Love and Laughter Knockout", a picture which is now showing at the California theatre.

"Knockout Reilly," a fast moving film with some following an exciting scene. A pleasing story motivates the action. Director St. Clair made judicious use of dramatic highlights to sustain suspense. The picture is reported to be one of the finest Dix has made to date.

KING GEORGE'S PERSONAL AUTO IN CITY TODAY

The King's car is here. At least the King of England's ex-car is here, for the car used by the King from 1910 to 1924 has been purchased by Charles Y. Knight, designer of the Knight motor, and is at present on tour in the United States, visiting the various Willys-Overland agencies.

The car arrives this morning, and will be met at the city limits by J. P. Strom and a delegation of Richmond officials. The car will be escorted into the city where an impromptu parade through the business section will be staged.

The car is an American eyes—a peculiar one. It has the leather fenders of days ago, and is bright with polished brass ware. Many little contraptions which are not seen on "Made in U. S. A." cars are on the royal car—as is the coat of arms of the British sovereign.

King George's car will remain here Friday, June 17, being on display at J. P. Strom's, 13th and Macdonald avenue until midnight.

Old Fashioned Dance To Be Held At Redmen Hall

An old fashioned overall and gingham apron dance will be the attraction at Redmen hall tomorrow evening. Square dances will be the order of the evening, and it is anticipated that there will be a large crowd present.

The best of music has been secured for the occasion. The director of affairs for the dance is Oscar Long.

TRINITY GUILD INSPECTS NEW HALL

A tour of inspection of the new Trinity hall was made by the members of the Trinity Guild at their meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Zuver Hurt In Auto Crash

Mrs. O. L. Zuver, of 634 Twenty-fifth street, sustained severe lacerations of the left leg, and a possible fracture of one rib yesterday afternoon when the car in which she was driving collided with one driven by George Reischneider, 239 Eleventh street.

Mrs. Zuver is said to have been driving out of a service station at the corner of Fourteenth street and Macdonald avenue when the accident occurred.

Her car was overturned, turning Mrs. Zuver's car over on the side, injuring her, and wrecking both automobiles considerably. Mrs. Zuver received treatment at the Abbott Emergency hospital and was then removed to her home.

Melverton Cummings To Be Laid At Rest

Last rites for Melverton Cummings, Richmond pioneer, who passed away suddenly at his home at 132 Washington avenue Tuesday morning, will be conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. (Coroner Aubrey Wilson received word from relatives in the east yesterday. Interment will be in Sunset View cemetery. Date for the inquest has not yet been set.)

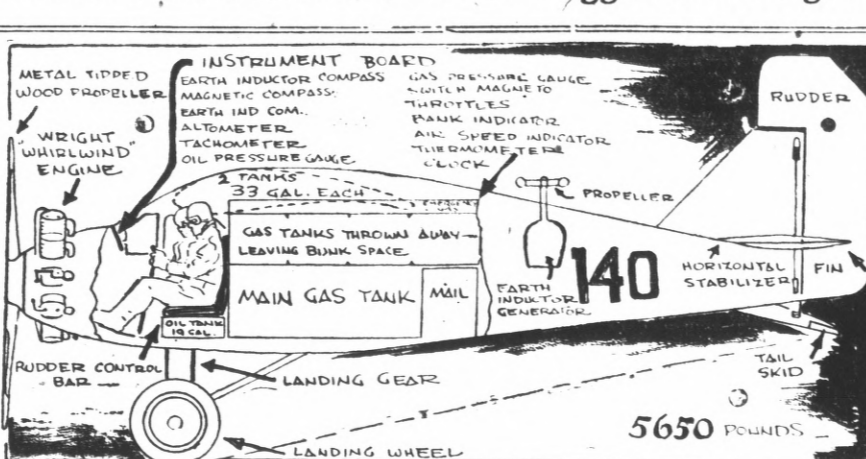

Joseph Appel To Be Laid At Rest Today

Final rites for Joseph Appel, who passed away at his home, 400 Barrett avenue Wednesday morning, will be conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel this morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. C. G. Lindemann will officiate. Interment will follow in Sunset View cemetery. Appel had lived in Richmond for the past 20 years.

An election of officers will be held at the meeting of the Missionary society of the First Methodist church, which will be held this afternoon at the church parlors.

Mrs. I. D. Owens will be the hostess for the social time after the business session.

How Bellanca Plane Was Rigged For Flight

THE INTERIOR arrangement of the Columbia is shown by the sketch above. Directly behind the engine in an enclosed cockpit, sat the pilots, who used the lubricating oil tank as a seat. Behind them was placed the main gasoline tank with loose five-gallon cans above to be emptied and thrown away in flight. The instrument board, with compass dial, turn and bank indicators, air-speed indicator and other instruments, was in front of the pilot, who had the left-hand seat.

Lindy's Viking Ancestors Never Bowed To Hardship

How Col. Lindbergh comes honestly by his great grit and nerve through blood heritage from Grandfather Augustus Lindbergh, once secretary of the King of Sweden.

"Pay $500 to learn to fly solo (alone)!" repeated Capt. Lindbergh to an instructor. "Why, I don't have to pay any one to fly alone."

"He possesses the greatest sixth sense I have ever known in a flyer," declares Eddie Stinson, noted Detroit flyer and builder of planes.

"Why turn in a report to my teacher?" Capt. Lindbergh is quoted as saying in his university days. "I can't teach him anything."

"MOTHER" LINDBERGH'S OWN STORY

As Told By His Mother to ROBERT CAMPBELL
(Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening GRAPHIC. All rights reserved. Reproduction in part or in full forbidden.)

CHAPTER 7

The escutcheon of the Lindbergh family is tinged with intrepidity and hardihood and fortitude.

It is the fearlessness, the pluck, the prowess of the masters that built up the open stretches of the far-flung West.

Capt. Charles Lindbergh comes rightfully by his grit and nerve. Augustus Lindbergh, grandfather of Capt. Lindbergh, was the first American Lindbergh.

ATTAINED PRESTIGE
He was born in Stockholm and attained much prestige there. He served in the Parliament of Sweden. Capt. Lindbergh's father, Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, was a member of Congress from Minnesota and candidate for governor.

Grandfather Lindbergh was speaker of one branch of the Assembly of Sweden and later served as secretary to the King of Sweden.

Then he emigrated to America and settled in Sauk Centre, Minn., to the prosaic business of being a farmer.

In 1861 Grandfather Lindbergh was living in a little 12x16 log cabin which he had built himself. He made a living cutting logs on a sawmill. One day he stumbled and the saw cruelly cut into his arm. And there was not a doctor within sixty miles.

It took the doctor three days to get to the stricken man, and when he arrived the patient submitted to amputation of the arm without anesthetic. For three days he had without complaining borne the pain. He walked all the way back home, and there cooked up a mess of bacon to ally his hunger. And while Grandfather Lindbergh was always seeking to help others, he would not ask for a "lift" himself.

Grit, nerve, independence, "being on your own," is the rightful heritage of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

VISITED CANAL ZONE
In 1914 Col. Lindbergh and his mother visited the Canal Zone, and while the other tourists "rested in the shade," the inquiring youth and his mother walked everywhere in the blazing sun to "learn everything there was to know about the big Culebra cut."

And when they came back Charles Lindbergh brought with him a trunk full of the rocks that he had found there and which had attracted his attention.

In the fall of 1918 Charles Lindbergh entered the University of Wisconsin and took a course in engineering. And there he was an unusual student. He did more than the required amount of work in his experiments to attain marks in his engineering class. But when he had experimented and mastered a problem he lost interest in that particular problem. He felt that there was nothing more to learn of that identical equation.

I CAN'T TEACH TEACHER
To Delos Dudley, son of Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Dudley of the university and one of Col. Charles Lindbergh's close friends, is attributed this few d'esperit: "Don't neglect to turn in a report," he said to Lindbergh

THE HONORABLE V. D. Lindbergh, with his mangled arm wrapped in nothing but water-soaked bandages.

The operation was a complete success, and a few months later the rugged, sturdy old Viking was out chopping wood with his one hand "as good as ever."

PRODUCT OF CLEAN LIFE

It was his clean mode of living that carried him through this frightful ordeal, and Col. Charles once.

"Why?" he replied. "I can't teach the instructor anything."

While Col. Lindbergh "passed up" the various track events and athletics of college life—not even baseball or football interested him in the slightest—he displayed nerve time and again.

He was always ready for a clean scrap and starred in inter-class "rushes."

As a freshman he organized expedition after expedition against the sophomores, which always resulted in the sophomores getting well ducked in Lake Mendota.

He was ever on his own—the Lindbergh characteristic. And he earned his own way all ways.

In 1921 he left the university and took himself to Lincoln, Neb., and announced that he would like to become a "stunt" flyer—to fly "solo" (alone).

It was explained to the youth that he would have to put up a bond of $500 for his "schooling."

"Pay $500 for the privilege of flying alone?" he repeated. "Why? I can fly alone without paying any one a dollar."

He had already acquired the rudiments—the primitive tricks of flying—and he started off "on his own" doing "stunt flying" and with the $500 still in his own pocket.

But he possessed still more than the mere fundamental knowledge of primitive flying; he possessed what Eddie Stinson, the famous birdman, calls the "unusual sixth sense," and this sixth sense doubled and trebled his worth as a flyer and added materially in bringing him to the highest niche in Fame's temple.

And while he was "winging about" he dropped in at Selfridge Field, at Mount Clemens, just twenty miles north of Detroit, and there he got his first study of the planes of new efficiency and design that he vowed he would pilot one day on his great dream of ocean conquest.

(See tomorrow's paper. More and more incidents of daring in the life of Col. Lindbergh that how he never swerved from his ambition to "do something in aviation." Packed with thrills and deepest emotion.)

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

If it were not for positive proof furnished by his birth certificate, Tony Lazzeri, serious, thoughtful-looking, would not be associated for a moment with unruly Telegraph Hill in San Francisco; a young man so sedate in manner as Tony Lazzeri. According to Sheriff Bill McGehee, a San Francisco native, who found himself on the main street of Chillicothe, O., the day after the earthquake streamed through the Golden Gate, Telegraph Hill in its prime was twice as hard-bolled as Chicago's South Side and three times as ferocious as New York's Hell's Kitchen. He means that it was tough.

Telegraph Hill's civic viciousness was not displayed via the thoroughbred horse pistol or the intemperate silhouette in the days of its prime.

The residents atop Telegraph Hill depended on Mother Nature not only for a daily living but also for weapons of defense. From Mother Nature's broad bosom, they stole boulders and rocks and these they would roll down upon the heads of those who attacked them.

The term, "telegraphing a punch," had its derivation here. Long before the huge rocks hit the heads of those climbing upward, the victims could hear the stones crashing downhill.

Tony Lazzeri, who recently broke into the daily prints by telegraphing three homers over the walls of the Yankee Stadium, developed the muscles in his shoulders and back and arms on Telegraph Hill.

Denied, because of his youth, a position in the first line of rock-rollers, Lazzeri was placed at work in the second line. He carried rocks to those who heaved them. In this way, he became strong and manly and today, ladies and gentlemen, Tony Lazzeri is an idol of the Italian race.

Italians, purely Latin in temperament, are exceedingly proud of Tony Lazzeri. They have placed him on the same pedestal that holds Franco Georgetti, the bike star; Gene Sarazen, Joe Dundee, Johnny Dundee, Joe Turnesa and others of the race.

I recall, though, an occasion on which Lazzeri placed one of his warmest admirers in a bad spot.

It was during the last World's Series between St. Louis and the New York Yankees.

Lazzeri came to bat, and Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals sent in Grover Cleveland Alexander. A hit would win the ball game.

Michael W. Casale, the bit furling man, expressed his pity.

"Poor Alex," said Mr. Casale. "He is bucking impossible odds. The royal Italian blood will be too much for him."

Up until the time that Lazzeri banged three homers the other day, Mr. Casale had nourished his bitter sorrow in secret.

The royal Italian blood has now been vindicated and Mr. Casale again tells of golden sunsets over Palermo and Venetian traffic cops. More particularly, Mr. Casale tells of Lazzeri, who pooshes 'em up for Miller Huggins.

Harry Cooper Ties Tom Armour In Open Golf Play At Oakmont

By WARREN BROWN
(The Universal Service)

CAKMONT COUNTY CLUB, Pa., June 16.—On the steps of the clubhouse at Oakmont, following the first round in the national open golf championship, Harry Cooper, fast moving professional from the Elsereno club of Los Angeles, addressed himself to the correspondent in particular and the world in general.

"If I don't finish in the first five in this championship," he said, "you can kick me up and down Broadway, New York, or Broadway, Los Angeles."

After the second round, and some 'Arry appeared at the press gallery to ask that the world be notified that he isn't from Sacramento, as the press reports insisted upon carrying it, but from Los Angeles. "And you can add that the kick I spoke of yesterday, goes if I'm not in the first three, tomorrow night."

For the great part of a spectacular afternoon, today, it appeared as if even Cooper had underestimated his own prowess, strange as that may seem, and his 301 strokes for 72 holes of the toughest golf, on the toughest course that has ever held an open championship field, looked to be good enough to win. But some where out on the following fairways, surrounded by one of the many huge galleries that tramped around the course, Tommy Armour of Washington, accepted as Cooper's real contender, when Harry turned in his final card, was battling away. And on the last green, with thousands of galleries to shriek in glee, Tommy, needing to sink a ten foot putt for a tie, did just that.

Gene Sarazen Third
A stroke behind them, throughout the afternoon round, either squared with, ahead of, or not far behind, was Gene Sarazen of New York, with 302.

Armour's chase after Cooper, which will have to be a sort of continued-in-our-next via tomorrow's play-off route, was a tribute to the stick-to-tiveness of the Washington pro. He had trouble at the tenth and again at the twelfth, on his homeward journey, becoming involved in the general confusion of the Oakmont layout. But from there in Tommy's 3-4-1 3-4-3, was every bit the act of someone who was going somewhere and being there in a hurry.

And while on the subject of hurrying, there was our old acquaintance "Wild Bill" Melhorn, of New York, who took it upon himself to knock five strokes off his score to a 32 on the way out in the final rounds. This left him a 36, or one over par for the course, to get his 300, and victory.

A 37 would give him a tie, but Bill's 32 must have taken something out of him, for he became wobbly at the tenth, worse at the twelfth, shaky at the fourteenth, and finally staggered home with a 205 which was not quite good enough to get him in tomorrow's added attraction, but good enough to net him fifth place.

JONES OFF FORM
Away down the field came Robert T. Jones, Jr., the fallen champion with 309. After five years of winning or finishing second, Bobby was unable to get inside the first ten, in this competition, his score giving him a tie with Bobby Cruikshank of New York, Eddie Loos, leader of the Chicago district, and Leo Diegel of New York.

There was glory a-plenty and as many disappointments for a half dozen of the field in the final blistering round. Emmett French of Southern Pines, was right up in the running until the sixteenth, when he blew and had to be satisfied with 304. Walter Hagen, actually doing more than his past several months' play, suggested he would do, went to pieces in the last round, getting an 81 for a total of 307.

Harrison Johnston, the St. Louis amateur, who had led the field at the half-way mark, treated himself to an 87, fifteen strokes above par, in the morning round, and eventually wound up with 311, which racketed him with Macdonald Smith, Willie Macfarlane, and Al Espinosa, the last named taking it upon himself to play the finest round of the entire tournament, on his last home around the course. His 69, three strokes under par, pulled Al up from far back, and the pity of it all was that he didn't have a couple of other fairish rounds to place beside it.

team, kept plugging his way along until he had amassed a total of 308 strokes, for the leadership of his party, Arthur Havers being two shots behind. Archie Compston is the only invader to get inside the first ten. The rest of his mates, outside Havers, finished anywhere from Pittsburgh to White Chapel.

Archie was in a tie, at the conclusion of hostilities, with Johnny Golden who came with a rush in the last two rounds, and Johnny Farrell, who will have to be satisfied with his distinction, this year, of being the best dressed golfer.

Curiously enough, these two, Golden and Farrell, were in a tie for the Moecey in the Southern Open championship. Their tie today wasn't for the money—just the exercise.

The fact that no golfer of the 142 world's best, who started in the tournament, was able to break 300, is about as good a line on the Oakmont course as anything. Too tough for a golf course, not too tough for a golf course, for a World

Further I am not the one to say who is to manage the Giants. Mr. Stoneham, as chief owner, is empowered with such authority and I am not ready to say tonight whether 1928 will close my managerial career. That is going too far into the future."

Hornsby is filling the official role as captain of the Giants this season and has been handling the managerial duties when McGraw has been absent from the club. Club house rumors have it that Hornsby is none too popular with the players.

Roland Roberts and Lefty Cuthran hooked up in one of the prettiest pitching battles of the year yesterday afternoon at the First street ball park. The All Standards and Barrel House fighting it a 3-3 deadlock over the full nine-innings.

It was the second extra-inning game of the week, and a contest that provided one thrill after another for the large crowd of fans assembled in the stands.

Roberts, who has been pitching an average of two games a week since the start of the season, twirled steady ball yesterday. He held the Barrel House sluggers to four widely scattered hits, and walked but one man. Roberts' support was far from what it should have been, his mates kicking the ball around for a total of four misplays.

The Barrel House played errorless ball behind the brilliant pitching of Lefty Cuthran, who turned in a six-hit game. The little left hander, who seems to be enjoying one of his best seasons on the mound, struck out seven All Standards in the nine innings.

The Barrel House took an early lead when Gene Fitzgerald lifted one of Robert's fast balls over the right field fence for a home run. This lead lasted just one inning, the All Standards coming from behind to score two runs in the third. Armentrout opened the inning with a double to right center and came home ahead of Roberts when the latter homed over the right field fence.

The Barrel House came right back in the fourth to score two more tallies and again take the lead. Gene Fitzgerald drew a walk and went to third on Peters' single to right center. Ray Fitzgerald laid down a pretty sacrifice, his brother scoring from third and Peters advancing to second. Hunny Muth followed with a fly to center which Remell dropped, allowing Peters to score from second.

The All Standards tied the count in the fifth when they rang the bell once. Armentrout was given a life when he was hit by a pitched ball. Roberts and Bobby Thorson hit a fluke single into right center. Armentrout going to third. Carson came through with a single to score Armentrout. That completed the scoring for the day.

In addition to the home runs by Gene Fitzgerald and Roberts, another long clout was hit by Johnny Husefka, who hit the top ago he was on the losing end in a fist to fist encounter with Pitcher Burleigh Grimes who is said to have openly reminded Rogers that he now is only the second baseman with the Giants and that his success in 1926 with the St. Louis Cardinals has faded into the dim past.

DAD AND I

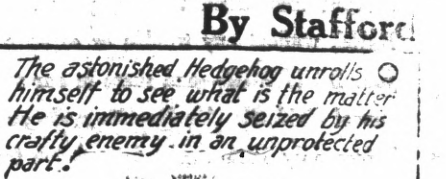

Watch the Fox and the Hedgehog.
The Hedgehog is a funny little animal, protected by spine-like bristles on his back.
When attacked by an enemy
he rolls himself up in a ball.

Ha! Here's a meal!

The Hedgehog when rolled up baffles some animals.
The cunningness of the fox overcomes the difficulty by rolling him into the water.

The astonished Hedgehog unrolls himself to see what is the matter.
He is immediately seized by his crafty enemy in an unprotected part.

HEART TROUBLE
Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter here in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Morton of Stockton was in such great pain due to heart trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest comfort. All the physicians whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she had the first rest after many weeks of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments. I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

Indians Saw Plane
A party of Indians has just reached Peribonka told of seeing a White Bird early in May flying in a westerly direction several hundred miles east of the point where the distress signals have been reported.

From the Outarde river where a few trappers made their way in from the wilds came with the report that sometime about the eighth or ninth of May they heard the motor of an airplane. At that time little importance was attached to the noise due to the fact that machines often fly over that direction for lumber inventory reasons.

(By Universal Service)

MONTREAL, Quebec, June 16. — The crew of the Steamship Swiftwater, the first ship to navigate the Belle Isle Straits this season, arrived here today convinced that the "White Bird" with Nungesser and Coli aboard hit an iceberg at sea!

It was reported today that while off Newfoundland the sailors on deck saw what appeared marks of something having hit a large berg. A survey with glasses revealed wreckage and also what seemed to be footprints.

"One side of the berg," Seaman Alfred Curbal declared today, "was scarred as though something had dropped from a great height and slid down the side."

Curbal, together with three more sailors and the third engineer saw the wreckage.

"The ship was in too dangerous position to investigate," the seamen added, "but most of us are positive that the berg we sighted will solve the mystery of the disappearance of the airmen."

The crowd consists of men, women, and children, many wearing hats. The background shows tall buildings and a sign that reads "EMERALD".

Too Many Parties, Not Enough Pal, Divorce Asked

The night following her marriage, Emma Young of El Cerrito went to a dance with a man other than her new husband and from then on frequently went out to dinner and parties with other men. Kenelm D. Yonge alleges in his divorce suit filed in Martinez yesterday, Yonge put up with his bride's actions for two months and then when she packed her personal effects, telling him that she would rather kiss any man than him, he said, left. Yonge filed suit for a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

Suit for the annulment of the marriage of her daughter, Dorothy Eleanor 16, to William L. Brown, was filed by Mrs. Chrissie Woods of Richmond, in the Superior Court in Martinez. The marriage took place May 6, and Mrs. Woods claims that parental consent was not given. Attorney Hiram E. Jacobs represents the plaintiff.

The Martinez-Bay Point highway will be closed to all traffic today from the Martinez city limits as far as the Peyton bridge between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. to permit M. J. Bevanda, who has the contract for oiling the roadway to rush his work to speedy completion.

The oiling work will be so far finished as to permit of the road being opened after 5 o'clock for evening travel but it is possible that the closing orders will be in force for several days to permit of Bevanda carrying out his contract without hindrance and delay.

Basing her complaint upon a gun attack upon her for which her husband Vincenzo Astorino, is now serving a year's sentence in the county jail at Santa Rosa, Mrs. Annie Astorino of Richmond, filed suit for divorce yesterday in Superior Court in Martinez. The attack, in which Mrs. Astorino was severely wounded, occurred at the Sonoma county ranch of her father on March 21 last. Astorino fired five shots at his wife, who attributes his action to temper and jealousy.

In addition to the gun attack upon her Mrs. Astorino declares that her husband struck and kicked her and refused to give her money to purchase postage stamps. They married in 1924 and have a daughter, aged two years, whose custody Mrs. Astorino is seeking along with an award of $10 monthly for support.

A boy was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Osborn of 993 Lucas avenue, according to a report from the Richmond Maternity hospital, where the child was born.

CAMELS
passed them all

for yourself*

IT'S the cigarette of the age — the triumph of all smoking history. Just reflect—at the time when more cigarettes are smoked than ever before—Camels passed them all.

Why? Figure it out and you'll find that Camel is made for the particular smoker whose taste, day by day, is more knowing of quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. And what blending! Camel's smoothness and mellowness are qualities distinctive to this cigarette.

If you haven't yet tried them, you'll find all your smoking wishes come true in Camels. Mild, clear and smooth from morning to night. Always so satisfyingly good! "Have a Camel!"
